

Our Work

Communities In Schools of Seattle is part of the nation's leading drop out prevention program. Our mission is to surround students with a community of support, empowering them to stay in school and achieve in life. During the 2019-20 school year, our Site Coordinators supported a total of 4,901 students as they took one step closer to graduation.

We do whatever it takes to ensure all kids, regardless of the challenges they may face, have what they need to realize their potential. Through a combination of intensive case management and school-wide supports, Site Coordinators develop a plan that is responsive to the unique needs of individual students and the larger school community. We coordinate, broker or directly provide services in the follow areas:

Our Students

We work with students who are incredibly resilient, diverse and full of potential. Many also face significant, systemic barriers that impact their day-to-day experience in the classroom and at home.

Our Schools

In 2019-20, we partnered with nine public schools in Seattle, connecting kids to caring adults and critical community resources that help break down barriers to graduation.

Our Impact

The 2019-20 school year has been unlike any other, but Communities In Schools of Seattle quickly adapted to the closure of school buildings and continued to support our students, families and schools in transitioning to remote learning while navigating both the local challenges and global impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. In the face of so much uncertainty and instability, the 179 students we worked most closely this year stayed engaged in their education and continued to progress toward their goals.
